Government Matte. master General has issued an order declaring the streets of New York and Philadelphia to be post-routes. The mean-ing of this is that the Postoffice Department ntends to monopolize the business of carry-ing and delivering letters within the city, and to enforce the same penalty against all who infringe on this monopoly that is pre-ecribed against carrying betters outside the mails, on all post-routes. This, we think, is $50. Heretofore private companies have shared the business of delivering letters in New York. Now any company or person that carries a letter in the city, will be liable to a fine of $50.74 DVIVILE .

operations of Government mail system, in order to break it down. The present difficulty in the California mails is another illustration of the beauty of Government mails. The old contracts expired, and no new ones had been made, consequently the old contractor, who owned all the steamers on the Atlantic side, refused to carry the mails except at his own terms. The express companies would gladly have taken the letters for the postage, but the atcamers refused to permitit As common carriers they would have been compelled to carry the mails, as freight, from the express companies, but for the Gov-erament monopoly which prohibits them from carrying letters.

Thus the ocean-mail communication with California was brought to a dead-lock by the very means which Government has devised to retain in its own hands the monopoly of carrying the correspondence of the people.

What kind of a free country is that in which a person is fined for carrying a letter in the street? If this is the culmination of our free institutions, we had better rub out the score and begin again. Has Government any more right to prohibit the carrying of letters than the carrying of goods? Of course not. No person of common sense will pretend that it has not just as much right in ne case as in the other. Nor is there the palliation for this exercise of despotic power, that it is for the convenience of the people. The convenience of the people does not need fines and penalties to commend it to their use. It is a system which sacrifices public convenience, and forces the business of the people into inferior methods by severe penalties. The Government carriers delivered letters in New York city at two cents. Private express companies did the business much more satisfactorily at a charge of one cent. Now the Postoffice Department proposes to do it for one cent, but in order to protect an imperfect system against the operior energy of private enterprise, it 'proclaims the streets of the city to be postroutes, after which we suppose that a citizen, who takes a letter for a friend to the next toor, will be liable to a fine of $50, unless it is in a one-cent Government envelope.

We read of government monopolies in different countries, of various commodities in France of tobacco, in Naples of sulphur and we naturally regard them as features of despotic governments, where the rights of the people are not recognized; but how do they differ in principle from our Government monopoly of carrying the correspondence of the people? None of them are so odious in their operation. The French tobacco nopoly only puts a high price on an article of luxury, for revenue purposes; but our Gov-ernment mail monopoly takes possession of our public highways, and forbids us to carry our own property on them, under severe

It must seem strange to any one who could ever have existed in a free Government. It is a relic of despotism. Its original motive was to keep all correspondence under Government surveillance; but it has descended, by the force of custom, to countries cult is that in this country every thing is carried with certainty, dispatch and safety, Intelligence labors under a government em-

But how are we to get rid of this incubus? How can we make the change from the extended Government system, to one built up by private enterprise, without great interruption? Simply by repealing the penalties. Then let the Government mails be withdrawn as fast as they lose the business.

But for the legal penalties, private enterprise would have supplied the California route, even on the short notice, without any interruption. The Government mails would be superseded on all the great routes within aix months, and letters would be transported and delivered at the residence of each person, by expresses, just as money packages are

It there are country routes which private enterprise would not supply, let the Government mails continue on them until other means grow up, or until a proper time comes to abandon them, but there is no sense in fastening this odious system on the whole country for the sake of the sparsely-settled and unnecessary routes. All that is required to make the change without any interruption or inconvenience to business, is to repeal penalties which have no right to exist, and which never ought to have been enacted. Aside from the relief of the business of the country by this change, the relief to politics. morals and society, by disbanding the army of postoffice officials throughout the country, is almost too great a blessing to think of. It would change this Government, from the most corrupt one on earth, to one of almost purity. It would be the Russian campaign to the grand army of office-neekers in this

Biblical Republicanism. Mr. Isidor V. Bush, a Hebrew, and a Republican candidate for the Missouri Legislature, makes the comments on that circumstance a text for a communication to the Missouri Democrat. It is rather queer that all nations and all religions, Mormons, Turks, afidels and Pagans, are recognized as entitled to all the rights of citizenship in this ountry, and it is regarded as perfectly nateral that they should be candidates for office, except the Jews; the world does not allow

Of course it would be inconsistent to elect them rulers among are no better interpreters of prophesy in regard to the restoration of the rews, than they were in regard to the Messiah, and while we are praying that they may be restored, when we are praying God every day in our Business Men's Prayer-meetings, to start them along for their own land. But perhaps we the restoration may have already taken place in our midst, in their prosperity, wealth and political power.

But it was not our purpose to discuss prophesy in this article, as that is among the works which we reserve for our Sunday paper, but to notice the expression of Mr. Isador Bush's political opinions, and to see how they compare with the faith of his fathers. He says the Jews have no selfish ends to serve in politics, but unite their interests with those of the State; but that the Jews are, with few exceptions, with the Repubican party; "and naturally so; first, from the impressions received in early youth by the teachings of the Bible-(Exodus xxi., Deuteronomy xv., Leviticus xxv.) 'And ye shall proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof; secondly, from his own historical recollections. His daily prayers remind him that his fore fathers were slaves in the land of Egypt, freed and brought forth by the Lord."

Mr. Isidor V. Bush would abolitionize the Bible on very untenable grounds. The very passage which be quotes, proclaimed liberty only to the Jews, not to their slaves from the surrounding nations. It never pro-claimed liberty to the Gideonites, who were made hewers of wood and drawers of water forever for a slight pious fraud, to save their nation from destruction. Mr. Bush strangely forgets the divers laws of meum and tuum in this matter. The Hebrews did not like to be slaves, but they always held slaves when they could. Joseph, a singularly virtuous and highly favored man, introduced slavery into Egypt, by means of his prophetic knowledge of the famine. He counselled the King to save the corn, and then in the famine year he sold it out to the people, first for their money, then for their cattle, and when every thing else was gone into the King's treasury. Joseph made them give their lands, and from that time they worked them for the King's benefit. He certainly set a good pre cedent for the enslaving of his own people.

That quotation: "Proclaim liberty throughout the land," did good service in our Revoution; but it did not proclaim liberty to the segro. The Republicans recognize the difference between meum and tuum in this matter. They would not be willing to be slaver hemselves, because it was an existing institution, established by local law, although they hold that this makes African slaver sacred from their interference. This is the principle which the Bible establishes. It is singular that Mr. Isldor V. Bush should be so ignorant of the sacred books of his own people. Pharaoh and his host was submerged for enslaving the Hebrews; but the Hebrews were divinely ordered to enslave other nations. The year of jubilee proclaimed liberty to all the land, and to all the inhabitants thereof, but to none but the Hebrews, and even they might be enalayed forever by the proper ceremony of boring a hole through their ears. The prin-ciple of slavery, both biblical and modern, is governed entirely by the circumstance whether it is our bull that gores, or our ox

Sunday Reading.

We observed a good man co-operating with the SUNDAY PRESS yesterday. He carried a bundle of tracts, and distributed them, throwing them in, or tucking them under thinks of the nature of the system, that it the doors of houses, without question. We are glad to see emulation in this appropriate Sunday work. The harvest is truly great, and notwithstanding the great and growing circulation of the Pages, the laborers are comparatively few. The cessation from where the public mails are inviolable. The re- labor leaves the people exposed to that to do. Our churches will not contain except the correspondence of the people. a quarter of our population, and even some of them are closed, and the flocks abandoned, while the shepherds are refreshing exhausted nature at the wateringplaces. This throws a vast amount of re sponsibility on the remaining means of in struction. It is a day on which the mass of the people have more leisure for reading than in all the other six. We suppose that the SUSDAY PRESS reaches as many readers in this city as the number of attendants at all the churches. From this fact, some estimate can be formed of its influence. Yet there is great need for more laborers in this vineyard, and we welcome our cotemporary of the

> A Warning to our City Council. L. S. Chatfield, hitherto unknown to fame who announces himself a tax-payer of New York City, has served a notice of a motion for an injunction against the levy, or payment of $105,000 by the New York Council, for the apanese entertainment, the bills having been reduced by a most rigid scrutiny, from $125,-000 to the above insignificant sum. Among the reasons assigned by Mr. Chatfield for this unusual remedy, he states that, while the great ball to the Japanese was given at the cost of the city, the Aldermen sold tickets for their private benefit at from $10 to $100 each; also, that the expense of the Lelands for the ball did not exceed $10,000, while their bill of $91,000 has been allowed by the Council; that before this allowance the Lelands agreed to pay certain members of the Council 33% per cent. of the same; and various other things Mr. Chatfield states, upon his belief, which might create a prejudice against the members of the New York City Council.

We mention these things that our City Council may appreciate the opportunities and the temptations which are furnished by municipal hospitalities, such as they have endered to the Prince of Wales. The thing seems to have made thieves of the New York Councilmen; and what they called hospitality seems to have been contrived chiefly to furnish pickings and stealings for themselves. Our Councilmen should remember their weakness, and had better not be led into temptation.

THE BRLL-EVERETT meeting in the Sixsenth Ward on Saturday night, as reported in the Pams yesterday, merely passed res-olutions indorsing the nominations, resolving to form a Ward Club, and inviting "all porsons having the prosperity and welfare of the Union at heart, to join in the good cause." A Case of Horrible Crucity in New Yorkcorrespondent of the New York News from West Day, Saratoga County, writes: from West Day, Saratoga County, writes: Last March the wife of John Blake went to the Utica Asylum and got a boy twelve years of age. When the boy came there he was a smart, healthy, good-looking boy.

John Blake would starve the boy and make him work from four o'clock in the morning till seven o'clock at night, and not let him go into the house to get his treals, but would tetch him two of three potatoes and a piece of johnny-cake. He would make him eat chipmunks and mice which he canght in the squat traps set around the cern-field, and would not allow him to sleep in the house, hut would make him sleep in the barn on the floor.

would not allow him to sleep in the house, but would make him sleep in the barn on the floor.

At one time, when the boy could not perform the task which was given him to do, the said John Blake took the boy in the barn and tied him on the rounds of the ladder, with his hands as high as he could reach, and made him stand there all night; and this inhuman devil got up twice in the night and poured cold water on the boy. When the boy was taken from him he was covered with sores from head to foot; there were gashes on his person horrible to behold, which were made by the ox whip and clubs. Things went on in this way until a few days ago, when the neighbors found out how the boy fared, and a number of them went and took the boy away from the flend's grasp. When they went after the boy they found him in the field hosing potatoes. A warrant was put in the hands of Constable Demming for the arrest of Blake, but the flend had friends, who, for the sake of getting his property for half what it was worth, aided in his escape.

A Nobic Little Fellow Devotion of a Son to his Mother.

A Nobie Little Pellow Devetien of a Son to his Mother.

Among the drunken wretches arraigned recently before Recorder Long, at New Orleans, and ordered to pay a fine or go to Jail, was a Mrs. Doyle; she had no money, and was locked up with those similarly situated, to be subsequently sent to Jail.

Presently, says the Picagune, a little fellow of some nine or ten years of age, who belongs to one of the varieties of newshoys, being employed to sell papers and periodicals by Ennis, the books-seller, at the Pontchartrain Railroad, requested an interview with Recorder Long, and after telling him that he was the son of Mrs. Doyle, asked him what he would take to let his mother out; he hadn't much money, but would give what he had. The Recorder inquired how much that was, and she little fellow pulled out some $2, the hard savings of his scanty earnings.

The Recorder told him it would be throwing away his money, as his mother would be getting drunk again, and would be brought back before him, and asked if whether he had never tried to make her give up drinking. The boy answered that he had begged her many a time, but to no avail. The Recorder then told him he would discharge his mother if she would consent to take the pledge of temperance, and allowed him to have an interview with her. The braye little fellow spoke to his wretched parent through the bars of the cell, and obtained her consent. The Recorder then told him to keep his money, and sent an officer, who accompanied Mrs. Doyle to Father Monahan's, where she signed the pledge. We hope, for the sake of that noble boy, that this pledge will never be broken.

Minot's Light-House Soon to be Completed. It is announced that this light-house will be completed and lighted up in September next, by one of the first order of "Fresnel Lights." The last stone was laid upon the 29th of June, and when all is finished as designed, it will be, in the opinion of the writer for the National Intelligencer, one of the grandest achievements in the world, not even excepting the first show struck upon the rock where this light-house has been erected, was on the 12th of June, 1855. The old iron light-house was carried away by the fearful storm of April, 1851. It is a remarkable fact that no accident of any kind befel the workmen during the years that the Minot's Ledge structure has been in progress. The writer in the Intelligencer says that the strength and stability of the tower on the Minot's Ledge, may be known from the fact that, during all the numerous and severe storms of last winter, it stood exposed to the merciless pelting of the waves of the wild Atlantic, without a stone or a joint having been disturbed; this, too, when the tower was at the hight of sixty feet, its most west state. Minor's Light-House Soon to be Completed been disturbed; this, too, when the tower was at the hight of sixty feet, its most weak state. Having stood without damage in this naked and exposed condition, nothing can prevail against it when finished.

The diameter of the tower at its base is thirty feet, and at the floor of the lantern about twenty-five feet; the whole hight from hear to too of lengths. se to top of lantern, is 107 feet.

BENEFIT OF SEA VOYAGES.—"To every body," says, the London Lancet, "except some nervous and delicate females, and a few males with very susceptible and untameable stomachs, a moderate sea voyage is one of the finest tonics known. The rapid movement through the atmosphere, the change from latitude to latitude, the constant breathing of a pure, undefiled air, the complete relaxation of mind and muscle, the novelties of a sea life, and of nautical maneuvering, soon begin to work wonders upon body and mind. The complexion becomes clear, the eye bright, muscular movement easy, quick and vigorous, and the appetite keenly sharpened. The pervous, worn out, exhausted, irritable person finally becomes fat, lazy and insouciant. For the victim of commerce, the votary of fashion, and the devotee of literature and science, we say there is nothing like a sea voyage to bring about that necessary and perfect moulting process, as Schulitz calls it, which eventuates in an almost rejuvenescence." Can a tithe of this be said of Saratoga, or any of the fashionable places of resort in which our wealthy citizens crowd themselves and their families during the hot months of summer?

THE SEA-SERPENT AGAIN-HIS APPEARANCE THE SEA-SERPENT AGAIN—HIS APPEARANCE IN LONG ISLAND SOUND.—A gentleman of Hartford, who has been stopping at the Savin Rock House, West Haven, for a week or two, informs the Times of that city that what was considered a veritable sea-serpent was seen from the abore last Thursday. A number of the guests were watching the gambols of a school of perpoises about a mile from shore, when what appeared to be a serpent about forty feet long, and of a brownish color, was seen in the midst of the school, and caused a great commotion among the fish. It appeared as though, a contest took place between one of the porpoises and the serpent. The reptile was seen for about half an hour by quite a concourse of spectators.

IMPROVEMENT IN THE WATER OF THE TEAMER RIVER.—An English paper says: The wet weather of the present ceason has had a most satisfactory influence on the river Thames. The river thus far has been entirely free from those impurities which have at times been so very offensive, and have also been the cause of disease in the city of London. In the month of May, last year, the total rain-fall in the city was about two inches under the corresponding menth of this year, when it amounted to 3.7 inches. In June last year it was barely two inches, but in the first three weeks of last month it was 4.5 inches.

I have had a large experience of brain disease, and am satisfied that smoking is a most noxious habit. which can not be excelled either by economy, durawhich can not be excelled either by economy, durability or the excellence of the work it produces. It contains no molasses, but is made from No. 1 extrarefined 40-cent glue, load sogar and honey. Rollers made from this composition last three times as long as the ordinary ones. They will not run down in summer, and are especially adapted for xylographic yrinting, as they present a smooth and beautiful surface, not to be obtained from the ordinary ones, as Rollers made from this composition will be their work blacker, with less ink, than ordinary ones, as they take up all the ink and leave it in the right place. The composition will be sent in sealed cans,
